

Top picks in arts and entertainment in CT for July 2023

Patricia LaPietra

June 29, 2023

Kathleen Kucka: Strange Attractor
Black & Blue Cosmos, 2022, burns on canvas/flashie

Our round-up of some of the best events happening in June in Connecticut includes “King of Country” Jason Aldean coming to the Xfinity Theater in Hartford on July 15 — plus a Dolly Parton musical at the Goodspeed, comedy legend Jerry Seinfeld at Foxwoods, two pop-culture conventions (at the Connecticut Convention Center and Mohegan Sun), and lots more things to keep you busy all month long.

Kathleen Kucka: Strange Attractor

Blue World Cosmos, 2021, burns on canvas/flashe
Dario Lasagni

Through July 22

Kathleen Kucka: Strange Attractor — Well known in the New York City abstract scene, Kucka is a recent transplant to Litchfield County, where she recently opened a gallery, Furnace, in Falls Village. This solo exhibition features newly created paintings and works on paper that blur the line between two- and three-dimensional abstraction using unconventional materials and methods. The current works were inspired by the dark nights, planet-gazing and fractals of summer, and Kucka created them by employing a hand-held burn tool to mark geometric grids and circular patterns on the surface of her canvas before painting on top of the scorched surface, exploring the interplay between physical and visual components of painting. Heather Gaudio Fine Art, 66 Elm St., New Canaan. 203-801-9590