HARRY MARKUSSE (b. 1990)

Harry Markusse is a Dutch artist whose work is abstract and fundamentally minimalistic by nature, characterized by experimental studies in color, form and movement. He uses tight geometric planes and lines, often mirroring, repeating or tilting them creating a layered image. By working in contrasting colors (or sometimes subtle tones), Markusse's work seeks a hold between shape, movement and countermovement, as well as the two and three dimensional.
