JOSEF HOFLEHNER (b. 1955)

Hoflehner is an Austrian photographer whose work focuses on the solitude and beauty of nature. He seeks out solitary and empty landscapes, as they have the greatest impact to him. These introspective and sometimes haunting photographs provide a refreshing way of seeing the natural world. They capture a certain stillness and beauty in nature. His photographs are not staged, rather he waits for just the right moment, often using long exposures to create his work. Hoflehner's work exhibits regularly in leading photography galleries in New York City, Los Angeles, Berlin and London. He currently resides in Austria, though he travels the globe to capture his images.
