BONNIE EDELMAN

Bonnie Edelman has traveled the world working with renowned fashion and travel photographers such as Sante D'Orazio, Russell James and Francesco Scavullo during her distinguished career in publishing. She has brought her finely tuned editorial eye to her career as a fine art photographer. Her first fine art series began in 1991 when she photographed horses in the North Salem, New York area near her home. Edelman's artistic eye took a departure from the figurative and representative to more abstract colorful imagery in her body of work entitled SCAPES (Land, Sea, Sky). SCAPES captures the colors of nature and allows the artist to see the world in blurs of color rather than in detail. Her modern abstract photographs have garnered the attention of renowned designers.
